DNA Correspondent

Chaos was witnessed at Western Region Power Distribution Company (WRPDC) office on Friday as around three-dozen industrialists reached there to lodge protest over irregular power supply. The industrialists, who have their units at Polo Ground, Sanwer and Mahalakshmi Nagar clusters, complained that their routine functioning was getting affected due to frequent power cuts. Talking to DNA, honorary secretary Association of Industries MP (AIMP) Vijay Agrawal said that even though the power distribution company had carried out maintenance work of supply lines but the exercise had turned out to be a futile one. "Power cuts are witnessed on daily basis and even if there is a small technical snag linemen also never turn up in time to set things right," he said. Though the CMD was not available in the office but the officer concerned pacified the industry representatives.
